St. Joseph Health, Northern California is an integrated delivery network of hospitals, outpatient facilities, affiliated physicians, home and community care, and more.

Our hospitals include:

- St. Joseph Hospital and Redwood Memorial Hospital (Humboldt County)
- Queen of the Valley Medical Center (Napa County)
- Petaluma Valley Hospital and Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital (Sonoma County)

We are part of the Providence St. Joseph Health (PSJH) family of organizations, which include 51 hospitals across seven states. Our five hospitals in Northern California work collaboratively with one another, as well as numerous outpatient facilities, affiliated physicians, St. Joseph Health Medical Group providers and PSJH experts to ensure patients receive the highest level of care — close to home.

Planning for the Future

Our commitment to the communities we serve is reflected in our community-focused partnerships. We know that no one organization or entity alone can solve our most pressing challenges. In 2019, St. Joseph Health Northern California invested more than $65M across the region, focusing on programs and partnerships that exemplify our core values of compassion, justice, excellence, dignity and integrity.
